

THE ROLE OF MEMORY IN THE HISTORIOGRAPHY OF HATAY

by

Esra DEMİRCİ AKYOL

Submitted to the Graduate School of Arts and Social Sciences
in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of
Master of Arts

Sabancı University
2008

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION.....	8
CHAPTER I MEMORY IN CONTEMPORARY HISTORIOGRAPHY	14
1.1 Memory and Oral Tradition on the Way to Historiography.....	17
1.2 Paving the Way to New Interpretations.....	17
1.3 The Annales School.....	18
1.4 The New Left and New Social History	19
1.5 The Birth of Cultural History	19
1.6.1 Giambattista Vico (1670-1744).....	20
1.6.2 Maurice Halbwachs (1877-1945).....	21
1.6.3 Michel Foucault (1926-1984).....	22
1.7 Memory and Nationalism	24
1.8 How is Oral History Different?	26
CHAPTER II METHODOLOGY.....	29
2.1 The Interviewees	30
2.2 Interview Themes	32
2.3 The Interviewer’s Role in Ethnographic Research.....	33
CHAPTER III THE HISTORY OF HATAY	37
3.1 The Oldest Civilizations in the Region.....	37
3.2 Roman Empire: Flourishing of Christianity in the City	37
3.3 Rule of Islam and Accumulation of the Turkish Population in the Region.....	38
3.4 Seljuks: The End of the Rule of Islam.....	38
3.5 Ottoman Period.....	38
3.6 World War I and Its Aftermath: Fight for Power in the Region.....	41
3.7 Struggles and Local Heroes	43
3.8 The Population of the Sanjak	48
3.9 Franco- Syrian Treaty of September 9, 1936: Ambiguous Situation of the Sanjak	48
3.10 The League of Nations and the Sandler Report.....	50
3.11 Independent Hatay and Elections	52
3.12 Concluding Remarks on the History of Hatay.....	56
CHAPTER IV REMEMBERING THE HISTORY OF HATAY	57

4.1 Geographical Context: A Place Where Cultures Mix.....	57
4.2 On Methodology and the Interviewees.....	59
4.3 Notables and Local Elite Families.....	68
4.4 Land Ownership	77
4.5.1 Kara Hasan Paşa	93
4.5.2 Maho.....	96
4.6 Taking Sides	98
4.7 Migration	102
CONCLUSION	108
BIBLIOGRAPHY	119
APPENDICES	126